

ANA and Asiana to Code-share on Kansai—Seoul Gimpo and Kansai—Saipan from December

- Extending ANA's network to new Pacific resort and Seoul's downtown airport –
- New Japan domestic code-share feeder flights for Asiana to Saipan –

TOKYO November 27, 2008 Star Alliance member airlines ANA and Asiana will commence a code-sharing agreement on Asiana operated daily flights between Kansai airport in Osaka and Gimpo airport in Seoul, as well as between Kansai airport and the island resort of Saipan, from next month.

The new route linking Osaka-Kansai with the conveniently located Seoul-Gimpo, starting December 1, comes in addition to flights already offered by both airlines between Osaka Kansai and Seoul's international hub, Incheon airport, giving customers a wider choice of departures to better fit their schedules. Customers belonging to the frequent flyer programmes of either airline will, as a matter of course, be able to accrue and redeem mileage on the code-sharing flights. The flights will be operated using Airbus A330-300 aircraft in a two-class configuration of 30 business class seats and 260 economy class seats.

In addition, ANA will also place its NH flight code on Asiana's service between Osaka Kansai and Saipan, which commences on December 19, bringing the popular Pacific island resort back into the ANA network for the first time in 16 years. This flight will operate three times per week, using an Airbus A321-200 in a configuration of 12 business class and 165 economy class seats.

Asiana will also add its flight code to daily ANA domestic flights from Sapporo, Fukuoka and Kagoshima to Osaka Kansai, giving customers the added convenience of connecting seamlessly to Saipan with through check-in and through-baggage, using just one airline and a single e-ticket.

As with the Kansai-Gimpo flight, ANA Mileage Club members or Asiana Club members flying on the new international and domestic code-share flights will also benefit from mutual mileage accrual and redemption.
