

ANA to Set its Timetable for Narita=Jakarta Route, Starting its Operation from January 2011 ~ New B767-300ER aircraft to be implemented ~

TOKYO October 28, 2010 – ANA, Japan's leading carrier, today unveiled its new route schedule for services from Tokyo Narita to Jakarta.

The route will be operated by new Boeing 767-300 ER aircraft, from January 7, 2011, offering business travelers unrivalled service with the “ANA BUSINESS CRADLE” seats.

Under the new schedule, ANA's Jakarta service will depart Narita in the morning - Tokyo time - and will return from Jakarta the same evening.

Route	Narita=Jakarta
Service start	January 7, 2011
Schedule	NH937 Narita	08:40	Jakarta	14:25
	NH938 Jakarta	21:10	Narita	06:30+1
	* daily flight operation
Aircraft	Boeing 767-300ER (Seats: Business Class 35 / Economy Class 167)

* Schedule may change due to operational reasons

The new B767-300ER aircraft, fully configured with new seat products for mid-haul international routes, will deliver the unprecedented comfort to our customers under ANA's brand concept “Inspiration of Japan.”

The “ANA BUSINESS CRADLE” in Business Class on the 767 features seats that support passengers in the reclining position, creating cradle-like comfort.

ANA travellers will have the choice to enjoy films, videos, music, games and other entertainments available on our 160 channels from a 12.1-inch wide (10-inch wide for the front row seats) touch panel on their personal TV monitor.

ANA currently operates flights from Narita to Bangkok, Singapore and Ho-Chi-Min City and will also launch two additional services from Haneda to Bangkok and Singapore this October. Together with the Narita=Manila route which is also scheduled to be launched at an early timing in 2011, ANA will operate nine daily flights operating on seven routes to five Southeast Asia destinations.
