

Star Alliance Members, ANA and Avianca Launch Code-share

October 13, 2015 – ANA, Japan's largest airline and Avianca, a leading Latin American airline, announced today the start of code-share services as of October 25, 2015.

Passengers will be able to book flights with ANA flight code between Japan via the USA or UK to Colombia, El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras, available for purchase starting October 14, 2015. *Subject to government approvals

ANA and Avianca joined Star Alliance in 1999 and 2012 respectively. Members of each airline's mileage club will continue to be able to earn air miles and use rewards on all flights operated by either company. Continuously, passengers traveling on multi-leg flights including a code-share leg will only have to check-in once to check their baggage through to their final destination.

Osamu Shinobe, President and CEO of ANA, said: "We are pleased to welcome Avianca which has the largest and most comprehensive network in Latin America as our code-share partner. This will give our customer access to a wider network."

About ANA

ANA is the largest airline in Japan by revenues and passenger numbers. Founded in 1952, ANA flies today on 74 international routes and 120 domestic routes. The ANA group has 35,000 employees and a fleet of 243 aircraft. In FY2014, it carried 50.4 million passengers and generated revenues of 1.71 trillion Japanese yen. ANA has been a member of Star Alliance since 1999, and has joint-ventures with United Airlines on trans-Pacific and Asia routes, and with Lufthansa, Swiss International Airlines and Austrian Airlines on Japan-Europe routes. Its Frequent Flyer Program, ANA Mileage Club, has more than 26 million members. ANA was voted Airline of the Year for 2013 by Air Transport World Magazine, and in 2015 was awarded five stars for the third consecutive year by the world's leading Airline and Airport review site, SKYTRAX. ANA is the launch customer and biggest operator of the Boeing 787 Dreamliner.
