

“Star Wars™ ANA JET” Ready to Fly on Japan Domestic Routes!

Star Wars™ ANA JET to feature new, original paper cups and headrest covers
Original R2-D2™ ANA Jet film begin to be shown on in-flight entertainment

TOKYO, November 5, 2015 - As part of the Star Wars™ Project, ANA plans to fly three aircraft with special livery, and on November 22, 2015 one of those jets, the Star Wars™ ANA JET (Boeing 767-300) will fly for the first time as ANA's flight number NH14 departing Itami Airport in Osaka bound for Haneda Airport in Tokyo. The Star Wars™ ANA Jet will then fly on various other domestic routes. The aircraft will feature new, original paper cup and headrest cover designs to immerse passengers into the world of Star Wars.

From December 1 on the international routes, passengers will also be able to enjoy an original film on the in-flight entertainment system featuring the R2-D2™ ANA Jet, which already went into service from October 18. The film includes footage from the process of applying the special R2-D2 livery paint to the ceremonial charter flight event hosted on October 17 to mark the first passenger flight of the aircraft.

About ANA

ANA is the largest airline in Japan by revenues and passenger numbers. Founded in 1952, ANA flies today on 74 international routes and 120 domestic routes. The ANA group has 35,000 employees and a fleet of 243 aircraft. In FY2014, it carried 50.4 million passengers and generated revenues of 1.71 trillion Japanese yen. ANA has been a member of Star Alliance since 1999, and has joint-ventures with United Airlines on trans-Pacific and Asia routes, and with Lufthansa, Swiss International Airlines and Austrian Airlines on Japan-Europe routes. Its Frequent Flyer Program, ANA Mileage Club, has more than 26 million members. ANA was voted Airline of the Year for 2013 by Air Transport World Magazine, and in 2015 was awarded five stars for the third consecutive year by the world's leading Airline and Airport review site, SKYTRAX. ANA is the launch customer and biggest operator of the Boeing 787 Dreamliner.
